Pollenate

James King and Sandra Corrigan Breathnach

Friday 16 - 24 September

To celebrate Culture Night on Friday 16 September at 7pm Void will launch the collaborative exhibition 'Pollenate' by performance artists James King and Sandra Corrigan Breathnach.

This exhibition is the result of a lengthy 'pollenation' process between both artists and investigates the proposition that apparent opposites can be complementary and mutually sustaining to create a coming together, a sharing and exchange.

King and Corrigan Breathnach are members of Bbeyond Belfast who share a mutual artistic bond.

The 'Pollenation' process began through a sharing of poetry which later developed into an extensive recorded interchange with both artists voicing intuitive phonemes and snippets of vocal sound over a long period of time. This was developed further by sonically manipulating and expanding the vocal exchanges to create a sound piece which was then interwoven with video (Pollenate #1). The result of a postal interchange over many months created sounds for two other videos one of which is an animation. The artists created extended abstract poems, alternating verse, each making a response to the other, deconstructing and reconstructing the language.

The exhibition is comprised of Photographic Prints, Video/Sound, Material objects and Live Performance.

'Pollenate' will be launched on Culture Night at 7pm in Void with a performance by James King and Sandra Corrigan Breathnach.

Admission is free and all are very welcome.
